

Title V MCH Request for Applications (RFA) 2026

Frequently Asked Questions

Q: What is the maximum amount of funding available through this RFA?

A: The total maximum funding available for distribution across all Title V MCH programs awarded under this RFA is $1,250,000. This amount represents the total funding available for all awards combined and is not the maximum award amount available to an individual applicant or program.

Individual award amounts will be determined based on available funding, enabling and population based proposed evidence-based activities, alignment with program priorities and federal performance measures, and the number of applications selected for funding.

Q: I am a current Title V subgrantee. How do I know how much funding is available for my program for the new grant year?

A: There is not a predetermined funding amount reserved for individual current subgrantees. The total maximum funding available across all programs awarded under this RFA is $1,250,000. Individual award amounts will be determined based on available funding, enabling and population based proposed evidence-based activities, alignment with program priorities and federal performance measures, and the number of applications selected for funding.

Current subgrantees should submit a proposed budget that reflects the funding necessary to support the activities included in their application and Scope of Work.

Q: Where can I find the RFA application documents, including the Scope of Work and budget template?

A: All documents and templates needed to complete the RFA application are available on the Title V RFA Toolkit webpage.

Applicants should use the templates provided in the RFA Toolkit when preparing their application materials.

Q: Can an organization submit more than one application for different programs under this RFA?

A: While multiple applications from the same agency are allowable, separate applications are not required for each program. An agency applying for funding for multiple programs/performance measures may submit a single application and clearly delineate each program/performance measures and proposed activities within the Scope of Work and budget.

Q: Which state mileage reimbursement rate should applicants use when completing their proposed budget?

A: Applicants should use the current State of Nevada mileage reimbursement rate of $0.76 per mile when calculating mileage expenses in their proposed budget.

Q: The RFA states that applications are due September 7, 2026, which falls on the Labor Day holiday. Is this submission deadline correct?

A: Yes. The application deadline of September 7, 2026, is correct. Rather than closing the RFA on Friday, September 4, the submission period was extended through the holiday weekend to provide applicants with additional time to submit their applications.

Q: The RFA requires signatures on certain documents, such as the Cover Page. What types of signatures are accepted?

A: Both electronic and handwritten signatures are acceptable.

Q: The RFA references submission of application documents in both Microsoft Word and PDF formats. Can you clarify the required file format for each application document?

A: Application documents should be submitted in the following formats:

- Cover Page, Agency Profile, and Contact Information – may be submitted in either Microsoft Word or PDF format.
- Scope of Work – must be submitted in the original Microsoft Excel format provided with the RFA.
- Budget Plan – must be submitted using the original Microsoft Excel template (Section C: Budget Narrative – Proposed Budget Template).

The Scope of Work and Budget Plan must remain in their original editable formats and should not be converted to PDF. Maintaining these documents in an editable format allows Title V MCH staff to provide comments or request revisions during the application review process and supports the timely development and execution of subawards for selected applicants.
